A Guide To Doing Business With the Department of State

November 1994

Department of State Publication 10224
Bureau of Administration
Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization

Revised November 1994

INTRODUCTION

A Guide to Doing Business With the Department of State is designed to familiarize small, minority, and female-owned businesses with the Department's procurement program. The Guide is intended to assist those small, minority, and female-owned firms seeking to do business with the Department in identifying procurement opportunities within the Department.

The Guide is issued by the Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization (A/SDBU), located in Arlington, Virginia, in State Annex 6, 1701 North Fort Myer Drive, Room 633. The office is responsible for implementation of the Department of State's activities on behalf of small and disadvantaged businesses and female-owned businesses in accordance with Public Law 95-507, Public Law 100-656, and Executive Order 12138.

The Guide is divided into five sections. Section A (1) summarizes the Department's procurement program, (2) describes the Department's acquisition under the Diplomatic Security Act, and (3) lists user-office contacts under the various categories of products and services for which the Department of State contracts. Section B contains (1) a briefing memorandum to small, disadvantaged, and female business owners concerning the Department's Small, Disadvantaged, and Female Business Program and (2) a listing of all Federal Offices of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization (OSDBU). Section C lists subcontracting opportunities available through the Department's larger prime contractors. Section D lists contacts for trade and investment-related issues. Section E lists other Department of State (and other government) publications (and subscriptions) that may be of interest to the reader.

Acquisition Program Profile

The mission of the Department of State is the conduct of foreign policy. The Department seeks qualified small businesses, minority-owned businesses, and female-owned businesses to participate in the acquisition process in support of this mission.

Major procurements include the Automated Data Processing Distributed Systems; Worldwide Diplomatic Security Support, Narcotics Eradication, Communications Equipment; and Furnishings for Embassies and Consulates. The contract spectrum includes the following:

Research and Development

A small research and development program (less than $5 million annually) is conducted in support of such programs as physical security, operation of worldwide telecommunications networks, and computer applications. Research and Development is not a major component of the State Department's acquisition program.

Supplies and Equipment

There are ongoing requirements for the following types of supplies and equipment. Many of these procurements are suitable for small business participation and some offer subcontracting possibilities.

- (a) Telecommunications equipment for use worldwide.
- (b) Computer software/hardware equipment and applications. Software and programming requirements are particularly suited to small business participation.*
- (c) Security equipment for the physical protection of diplomatic personnel and installations.
- (d) Household furnishings for embassies and consulates.

Services

- (a) Continuing requirements for maintenance services for communication equipment.
- (b) Requirements for packing and storage of household goods provide an excellent opportunity for small business participation.
- (c) General labor services, i.e., moving, messenger, clerical.
- (d) Management studies and surveys relating to mission activities.
- (e) Facilities maintenance services.

*The State Department has an outdated base of proprietary office automation and data processing systems. It is now planning and implementing a migration toward open systems architecture. The Department has a multiyear plan to accomplish this migration.

The State Department commissions studies and special projects to examine a wide range of subjects in response to requests from Congress, recommendations by the General Accounting Office and the Office of the Inspector General, or at the behest of management. These studies are either performed by internal working groups or contracted out. In fiscal year 1994, external studies accounted for a substantial part of such services. Unlike recurring services, however, it is difficult to plan for or predict when the Department might have need for such external studies.

All of the procurement activities described previously are conducted by the centralized Office of Acquisitions located in Rosslyn, Virginia. Credit Card Sales

The Government's VISA card is called "International Merchant Purchase Authorization Card" or "I.M.P.A.C." It is issued to certain Department employees under a delegation of purchase authority to pay for certain types of small purchases (no single purchase may exceed $2,500) such as office supplies, copier supplies, and maintenance; books and subscriptions; and repair of property and equipment (other than building property). Firms that accept I.M.P.A.C. and which wish to market their product to the Department should direct their attention to page A-26 for a partial list of cardholders. To learn more about accepting the I.M.P.A.C. VISA credit card, you may contact your local bank and ask for a "VISA Merchant Account" or call First Bank Systems' Customer Service at 1-800-945-4689.

Regional Procurement and Support Office

U.S. Embassy/Bonn

The Department of State's Embassy in Bonn, Germany, has a Regional Procurement and Support Office (RPSO) that supports the purchasing needs of many of the other American embassies abroad, particularly those in the Near East, Africa, the Mediterranean region, Eastern Europe, and posts in the newly independent states (formerly the U.S.S.R.).

In Fiscal Year 1992, RPSO/Bonn purchased over $55 million in goods and services, much of which was from U.S. vendors. The majority of such purchases are under $25,000 ("small purchases") and fall into three main categories. Those categories are: (1) medical supplies and equipment, (2) "special acquisitions," including computers and peripherals, software, large household appliances, expendable and nonexpendable office supplies, furniture, subscriptions and books, and (3) "general acquisitions," including educational materials, vehicles and spare parts, construction materials and supplies, and other miscellaneous goods and services that do not fall into categories (1) and (2).

Firms interested in selling to the RPSO/Bonn should send descriptive literature on their product line, including prices, to the Director, RPSO/Bonn, c/o American Embassy/Bonn, Department of State, Deichmanns Aue 5300, Bonn 2 Unit 27101, APO AE 09080. Small, small minority-owned, and small women-owned businesses should clearly indicate their size and ownership status when mailing product information to RPSO/Bonn. While overseas posts, including RPSO/Bonn, are not required by law to comply with U.S. domestic policy concerning Federal socioeconomic procurement preference programs, posts attempt to observe such policy where practical.

U.S. Embassy/Tokyo

The U. S. Embassy in Tokyo, Japan, has a Regional Procurement and Support Office (RPSO) that supports the purchasing needs of many of the other American Embassies and Consulates abroad, particularly those in the former Soviet bloc of nations and the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), Africa, the Near East, the Middle East, and the Far East.

In Fiscal Year 1992, RPSO/Tokyo purchased over $12 million in goods and services. The majority of such purchases are under $25,000 ("small purchases") and fall into three main categories: (1) Japanese-made automobiles with right-hand steering, and with left-hand steering for which no other available source exists in the particular constituent location for parts, supplies, and services; (2) automobile parts for vehicles made in Japan; (3) airfreight and shipping services to constituent posts of American Embassy Tokyo; and other miscellaneous goods and services that do not fall into any of the other categories.

Firms interested in selling to the RPSO/Tokyo should send descriptive literature on their products line (s), including prices, to Director, RPSO Tokyo, c/o American Embassy/

Tokyo, Unit 45002, Box 212, APO AP 96337-0001. Small, small minority-owned, and small women-owned businesses should clearly indicate their size and ownership status when mailing product information to RPSO/Tokyo. Although overseas posts, including RPSO/Tokyo, are not required by law to comply with U.S. domestic policy concerning Federal socioeconomic procurement preference programs, posts attempt to observe such policy where practical.

U.S. Embassy/Singapore

In October 1993, the Department of State formally opened a Regional Procurement Support Office (RPSO) under the U.S. Embassy in Singapore, Republic of Singapore. RPSO Singapore supports the procurement needs of the American Embassy in Singapore, including those Federal agencies attached to the Embassy, and other American Embassies and Consulates in the East Asian region.

As the RPSO Singapore is being newly established, historical procurement data is of somewhat limited value. In Fiscal Year 1993, Embassy Singapore purchased over $3 million in goods and services, of which 60 percent of the individual transactions were under $25,000 ("small purchases"). Over $450,000 in purchases were made for U.S. Embassies and Consulates in other countries. Supplies purchased by RPSO Singapore are expected to include heating and air-conditioning equipment, tires, medical supplies, electrical supplies, small appliances, consumer and office electronics, automobiles, construction materials and supplies, publications, household appliances, office equipment, construction materials, computer equipment and software, and household and office furniture. Services are expected to include commercial support services (cleaning, gardening, security guards), computer services, facility rentals, equipment leases, small architect-engineer and construction services, and airfreight and shipping services.

Firms interested in selling to the RPSO Singapore should send descriptive literature on their product line(s), including prices, to the Director, RPSO Singapore, American Embassy Singapore, FPO AP 96534-0001. Small, small minority-owned, and small women-owned businesses should indicate their size and ownership status when mailing product information to RPSO Singapore. While overseas posts, including RPSO Singapore, are not required by law to comply with U.S. domestic policy concerning Federal socioeconomic procurement preference programs, posts attempt to observe such policy where practicable.

Miami Regional Center

A Regional Procurement Support Office (RPSO) was formally opened in December 1993 at the U.S. Department of State's Miami Regional Center located in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. RPSO-MIAMI was established to support the procurement needs of the American Embassies, Consulates, or other posts located in the Central/South American, Caribbean, and certain West African countries.

Since RPSO-MIAMI was only recently established, there is no reliable historical data. Supplies and services that will be procured by RPSO-MIAMI may include heating and air-conditioning units and repair parts; computer equipment and software; small/large household appliances; office electronics; medical supplies/equipment; automotive parts/tires; electrical equipment/supplies; telecommunications equipment/supplies, construction materials/supplies; household/office furniture; printing requirements, and carpet/flooring supplies and equipment. Services are expected to be lawn care/gardening; equipment leases; computer services; small architect-engineer and construction services; and air freight/ocean freight and other shipping or courier services; facility rental; janitorial services; guard services; printing services; and life/health and retirement plans.

Firms interested in doing business with the RPSO-MIAMI should forward descriptive literature on their product/service line(s), including prices, to Director, RPSO-MIAMI, Miami Regional Center, 1650B S.W. 39th Street, Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33315. Small, small minority-owned, and small women-owned businesses should clearly indicate their size/ownership status when contacting RPSO-MIAMI. For additional information, you may also call (305) 359-3765 or Fax (305) 359-3769.

In the Omnibus Diplomatic Security and Antiterrorism Act of 1986 (PL 99-399), Congress has authorized funds to be appropriated to carry out diplomatic security construction, acquisitions, and operations pursuant to the Department of State's Supplemental Diplomatic Security Program.

Information regarding these projects is released through the Commerce Business Daily and other construction trade publications when the projects are ready to be designed, constructed, or government-furnished materials are to be purchased.

Firms interested in performing Embassy construction should direct their attention to Section 402 of the Omnibus Diplomatic Security and Antiterrorism Act of 1986. Section 402 addresses preference for U.S. contractors, utilization of minority and small business contractors, qualifications criteria, and subcontracting limitations on construction projects.

Limited contracting opportunities may exist for government-furnished equipment (GFE) such as bills of material (BOMs) for post communication centers and for security materials. Interested firms should contact Juanita Waters at the following address:

Notification of Metric Transition

In 1975 and 1988, legislation was enacted that denoted the metric system of measurement as the preferred system of weights and measures for the United States Trade and Commerce. Furthermore, Executive Order 12770 promoted the use of the metric system of weights and measures through contracts, grants, and other business-related activities to the extent economically feasible.

The metric system can provide substantial advantages to the Federal Government in its operations, and the Department of State, unique in its international mission and environment, has an important role to play in the Federal Government's transition.

Therefore, all employees of the Department, as well as those businesses that do business with the Department, are encouraged to participate in moving departmental functions to the metric system of weights and measures.

Any questions regarding the Department of State Metric Transition Program should be directed to Mr. Robert E. Lloyd in the Office of the Procurement Executive.

Memo to Small, Disadvantaged, and Female (SD&F) Business Owners

The Department of State is steadily and substantially increasing participation by small and small-disadvantaged businesses, female-owned businesses, and labor surplus area businesses in a broad spectrum of acquisitions through the expanded use of small, disadvantaged, and female-owned business firms locally, nationally, and internationally. These acquisitions range from recurring needs for goods or services to one-time needed procurements or research projects. Good results have been achieved principally through a daily intensive review of acquisitions and/or increased efforts by user offices to locate SD&F suppliers. Also, we have kept close liaison with local and regional offices of the Small Business Administration that have furnished names of suppliers of goods or services. In addition, we search our vendor file, using Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) codes, to locate prospective suppliers. Using the foregoing methodology, the Department is gradually broadening its base of information on SD&F firms. More and more supplies and services under the small purchase threshold will be awarded to SD&F firms and, similarly, larger acquisitions should increase substantially.

For example, Washington, D.C. receives many requisitions for services ranging from office furniture and furnishings to software and maintenance of hardware, communications, and building maintenance.

Beyond the District of Columbia, SD&F firms in various cities throughout the United States have participated in advertising, architectural and engineering design, computer software services, messenger vehicle maintenance, and international affairs research.

In recent months, the Department has extended SD&F firm participation in its acquisitions beyond the continental United States, primarily in the drug abuse and narcotics control program and in renovation, rehabilitation, and maintenance of U.S. Embassies overseas. Administrative, statistical, research-type acquisitions to be performed abroad will also be awarded to qualified small, disadvantaged, and female-owned businesses.

Whenever a conference is held by the Department of State, a variety of local facilities are utilized. These are: motel/hotel space, vehicle rentals, telephones, clerical help, and advertising.

Firms wishing to do business with the Department of State may request a Vendor Profile Database Diskette. This system is maintained by OSDBU and provides a diskette that contains over 100 fields of information to be completed. To obtain the diskette, phone (703) 875-6822.

When complete, please remit to:

Trade Promotion Activities of the Department of State That Can Benefit Small, Minority, and Women-Owned Firms in Exporting

Assisting U.S. business is a major responsibility of the Department of State. The Secretary of State has directed all members of U.S. Embassies and consular posts abroad to consider the promotion of U.S. business and economic interests to be a top priority and to support U.S. firms vigorously in foreign markets. The Ambassador, as head of the "Country Team," takes the lead in promoting U.S. trade and investment in 275 diplomatic and consular establishments in over 160 foreign countries.

The Department of State offers trade promotion services that can be of benefit to the minority business community. Each of the below-mentioned contacts can provide insight, advice, and assistance in the export efforts of minority firms:

The Office of the Coordinator for Business Affairs (EB/CBA)

in the Economic and Business Affairs Bureau serves as the primary contact point for the business community in the Department. Bureau officials are in daily contact with private sector firms and business groups throughout the country through meetings, briefings, speeches, and other programs. EB/CBA answers inquiries from businesses, individuals, and Congress, and maintains close liaison with regional bureau commercial coordinators, country desk officers, Commerce, AID, and other agencies involved in export promotion activities. (Phone: (202) 647-1942).

Embassies and Consulates overseas are charged with assisting the U.S. business community abroad. Ambassadors hold regularly scheduled meetings with American Chambers of Commerce in almost every country where there are such groups. Our Embassy commercial and economic staffs are available to assist American minority firms with political and economic briefings, professional advice and analysis on the business culture and practices of the country, and assistance in making and developing contacts abroad.

Personnel of the Department of Commerce's U.S. and Foreign Commercial Service (USFCS) are stationed in 69 countries where our major markets are located. State Department officers are responsible for commercial work in 101 countries with smaller markets where USFCS personnel are not present. The important point is that in all our Embassies, regardless of size or location, or which agency takes the lead, there are personnel to provide information and counsel to American firms, help them with problems, and see to it that they get a fair shot at contracts and sales.

The Regional Bureaus, each under the direction of an Assistant Secretary of State, are responsible for U.S. foreign affairs activities in a specific major region of the world. They are the Bureaus of African, Inter-American, European and Canadian, Near Eastern, South Asian, and East Asian and Pacific Affairs. Country “desk officers” maintain day-to-day contact with overseas diplomatic posts and provide country specific economic and political analysis and commercial counseling to U.S. business.

The Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization (A/SDBU) actively promotes the use of small businesses by our various program and procurement personnel, both domestically and at our Embassies and Consulates overseas. The Department is committed to ensuring that small businesses receive a fair share of the procurement dollars we spend. (Contact: Durie N. White, phone (703) 875-6824).

Publications: The Department produces various publications of interest to minority business, including Key Officers of Foreign Service Posts: A Guide for Business Representatives and A Guide To Doing Business With the Department of State.

Electronic Services

Federal Bulletin Board

In September 1992, the U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO) began a new service to give the public immediate, self-service, and cost-effective access to Federal electronic information. The State Department is one of the first participants in The Federal Bulletin Board (BBS) along with the Department of Energy, Environmental Protection Agency, and Health Care Financing Administration. The Bureau of Public Affairs provides Dispatch, country Background Notes, daily press briefings, and special publications such as A Guide To Doing Business With the Department of State by the Office of Small & Disadvantaged Business Utilization on the BBS.

Users can immediately access free services on the bulletin board with a personal computer, modem (settings: 8 bit, no parity, 1 stop bit, speeds 300–9600 baud), telecommunications software, and telephone line by calling 202–512–1387. To download files, prices are reasonable: the minimum charge per file is $2 (up to 50 kilobytes); a full megabyte file costs $21. There is no charge for browsing the list of files or for downloading copies of instructional and product description files, publication schedules, and the use of the electronic mail to order files on personal computer diskettes or in hard copy. For BBS purchases, a GPO Deposit Account can be opened with a major credit card, check, or money order by calling 202–512–1530 (FAX 202–512–1262). A $50 deposit is required with no minimum balance thereafter. For additional information about GPO's service, contact the Office of Electronic Information Dissemination Services on 202–512–1524.

OSDBU Bulletin Board

In June 1994, the Department of State, Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization began a new service to give the public immediate, self-service electronic access to its two publications, A Guide To Doing Business With the Department of State and its current fiscal year Forecast of Contract Opportunities.

Users can immediately access the services on the U.S. Department of State's Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization (OSDBU) bulletin board system with a personal computer with or without ANSI support, a modem (settings: 8 bits, no parity, 1 stop bit, speeds 300–14400 baud), telecommunications software, and telephone line by calling (703) 875–4945. There is no charge for using any of the features of the OSDBU bulletin board. Files may be downloaded on demand using various error checking protocols, including ZModem, YModem, XModem, and Kermit.

For additional information about the OSDBU bulletin board, contact the Office of Small and Disadvantaged Business Utilization on (703) 875–6822.* For new users, you will fill out a registration form on the BBS that asks for point of contact, telephone number, address, business size status, and products provided. (*Firms not having equipment to access bulletin board services can obtain hardcopies of the Guide or Forecast by calling this number.)
